

- the electrical parts are cleaned with a damp cloth and are lightly greased with lubricating oil when still warm.
- the stainless steel grids of the working area, after having been heated, take on a bluish tint which does not deteriorate the quality. To bring colour back to its original state, use a slightly abrasive product.

the qualified technicians for its replacement.

DO NOT USE STEAM CLEANERS

N.B. - Cleaning of the taps must be carried out by qualified personnel, who must be consulted in case of any functioning anomaly. Check periodically the state of conservation of the flexible gas feed pipe. In case of leakage, call immediately

GB

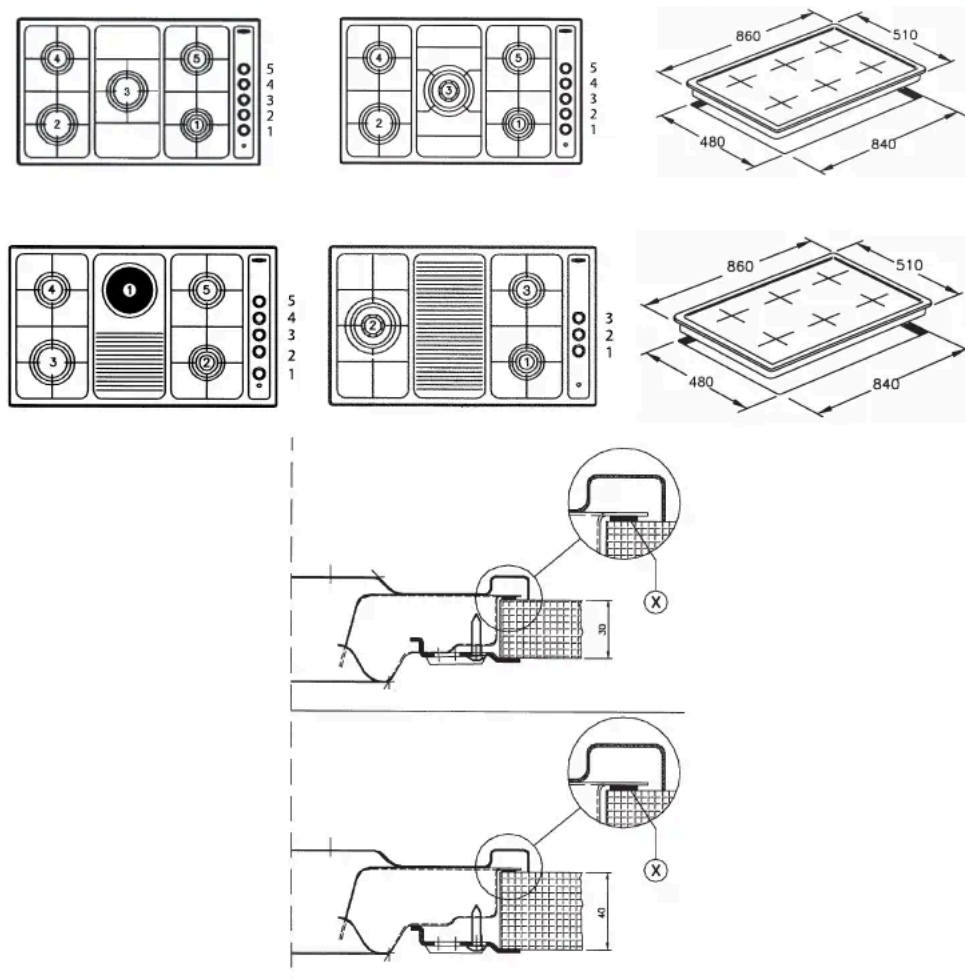

Fig. 2

